These terms and more are all over the news these days (and are being hyper-hyped by marketing materials). Do you wonder if these new technologies could be game-changing for your business but could leave you dazed by the sticker shock, confused by the complexity, and underwhelmed by the value? If you are still using spreadsheets (and even if you aren't), how do you know what these technologies are? How do you make sense of them, and how they might help your business?

Jeff Beyle is the CEO and one of the co-founders of SC Tech Systems (formerly known as Sticker Control). He started his career writing software before going off-track and going to law school. Following law school, he worked for Coca-Cola for 9 years, including 7 in Hong Kong as General Counsel for Coca-Cola's Asia Pacific Group. He left Coca-Cola to join Getty Images in 2000 and led the Legal, Business Development, and Indirect Sales groups during his time there.

He and a partner left Getty Images to establish the Getty Images business in Latin America (including the Caribbean and the US Hispanic markets) and sold that company to Getty Images in 2017. He then co-founded SC Tech Systems in 2018.
